

ABOUT US

RIT's Venture Creations Incubator (VCI) helps startups commercialize products and prepare for risk capital.

In addition to the incubator's resources and programs, startups can also access relevant RIT resources such as the Golisano Institute for Sustainability, NYS Pollution Prevention Institute (P2I), Global Cybersecurity Institute, intellectual property research, Pitchbook, and more.

VCI has been a keystone RIT initiative since 2003, with between 30 and 35 active companies at any one time.

Companies should be, or have the potential to become high-growth startups. The incubator has a slight preference for companies and products in these industries because of RIT's expertise and ability to add value:

- Clean energy & climate tech
- Photonics & imaging science
- Cybersecurity
- Gaming
- B2B software
- Access technology
